

The Heart of the Lion and the Lamb

The Lion Rules
He Conquers, he Reigns

The Lamb Follows
He is protected, he is meek

The lion is sustained by his pride,
By His fellows, his subjects
The lamb is sustained by his master

The lion views the world as it ought to be,
He sees it as he should make it

The lamb sees the world as his shepherd shows him
He sees it as it is given him

How strange it is then
That we are the People of He
Who is both the Lion and the Lamb

As you serve the Lord, my son
Your life will be filled with wonder, with majesty
Yet with humility, meekness, with servant-hood

For we too, are to be, both the Lion, and the Lamb

My greatest hope for your life is eternity
And for your name to be full of honor in the Lamb's book of Life
And for the Lion of Judah to name you as His own
For your life to be lived , as both a Lion and a Lamb
